Hi Monica! I have a problem. Do you remember the black dress with little white dots which I've bought? Well, it's too big for me. I have nothing to wear and my grandma's birthday is tomorrow! Will you lend me your black dress? The one with the grey belt? Call me, please!

Girl: Jim! Have you seen my dog? I was in my garden when I saw that the front gate was open. And now he's missing!

Boy: Oh no! I didn't see him when I was walking down the street.

Girl: So he has to be somewhere here. He always comes here.

Boy: I'll check behind the trees.

Girl: OK. And I'll look near these benches.

Woman: Mark, you have to help me with the housework. It's warm and sunny so I think you should clean the windows.

Boy: But dad said he'd do it tomorrow!

Woman: Oh, did he? Great. So bring me all your dirty clothes and I'll put them in the washing machine.

Boy: All right. And I can wash the dishes if you want.

Woman: Great! I'll start cooking dinner when you finish.

Man: Julie, how was your meal?

Girl: The soup was fantastic!

Man: Well, mine was too salty.

Girl: Oh, really?

Man: Yeah. Anyway, I heard they have really good ice-cream here. We can order them later.

Girl: Sure! I love ice-cream!

Man: And what about the steak? Was it tasty?

Girl: Hmm... It think it wasn't soft enough. And the tomato salad was nothing special.

Woman: Hello, my name is Mary Brown and I'm Tom's English teacher. I'm calling because Tom was asking for the English competition results. Well, I've just got them. Tom won the competition and he's invited to the official meeting with the organizers. Congratulations!

Zadanie 2.

Boy: Hi Libby! Where are you running?

Girl: Oh hi Mike! Sorry, but I'm terribly busy. I'm preparing the school play.

Boy: Cool! I can help you if you want. With the decorations, maybe?

Girl: Oh, that's Ashley's job. She loves painting. She also wanted to make the costumes, but I decided that Jill will take care of it. She knows how to sew.

Boy: What's the play about?

Girl: It's Hamlet by Shakespeare.

Boy: Wow!

Girl: Yeah, I hope that many people will come. All I need now is some posters.

Boy: I can make them! I'm good at computer graphics. Just send me the details by e-mail.

Girl: Really? Thanks, Mike! OK, I have to go. I have to hand these invitations to all teachers. And find somebody who'll carry 50 chairs to the gym. I can't do it myself!

Zadanie 3.

Man: Welcome everybody! I'm Mark Somner and I'm the principal of this school. I'm also one of three maths teachers here so maybe you'll have lessons with me in the future. I'm glad that so many of you came to our open day. I hope you will all become our students. Anyway, today you can visit the classrooms and speak to the teachers. You can take a look at our new school gym which was built last year. We also have a new cafeteria on the first floor. And don't forget to visit the second floor. Chemistry and physics labs are located there and you'll have a chance to perform some experiments. Have fun!
